Paris, October 30.

The two following Arrêts have been published here.

Arrêt of the King's Council of State, for establishing 60 Agents of Exchange.

UPON what has been represented to the King in his Council, that pursuant to the Arrêt issued on the 30th of August last, importing, That by Virtue of Commissions under the Great Seal, 60 of the King's Councillours should be created Agents of Exchange, of the Bank, of Commerce, and of the Finances, who only should be allowed to transact any Affairs of those kinds, 60 Persons are actually chosen and approved of to execute the said Commissions: But, that it is necessary to allow them a sufficient Time to qualify themselves for acting under those Commissions, upon the Terms specified in the said Arrêt; and that nevertheless it is for the publick Interest to permit forthwith the said 60 Persons so approved of, to enter upon the Exercise of the Powers vested in them by those Commissions, with a Prohibition to all others to transact any of the Matters committed to them, the said 60 Agents of Exchange being more than sufficient for transacting all Manner of Business above-mentioned, and consequently there will be no further Necessity of tolerating any longer the tumultuous Crowd of Persons about the Exchange, who, notwithstanding all Precautions used for preventing it, do considerable Damage to Arts and Trades, and occasion infinite Abuses, Frauds, and Disorders; his Majesty being willing to provide against the same, the King being in his Council, by the Advice of the Duke of Orleans, Regent, has granted, and does grant to the 60 Persons chosen and approved of for executing the said Commissions of Agents of Exchange, the Time and Space of one Month, reckoning from the Day of the Publication of this Arrêt, to qualify themselves for acting under those Commissions upon the Terms specified in the Arrêt of Council of the 30th of August last; and upon their Default in not qualifying themselves by the Time already prescribed, and upon the same being elapsed, it is his Majesty's Pleasure that they be excluded the said Commissions; and nevertheless his Majesty permits the said 60 Persons so approved of, and named in the List annexed to this present Arrêt, to begin from the Day of the Publication hereof, upon the Execution of the said Offices of Agents of Exchange: His Majesty forbids all Brokers, and others to transact any Matters or do any Business relating to the said Offices, and forbids all Bankers, Merchants, and others, from employing them to that Purpose, under the Penalty of 3000 Livres forfeiture for each of the Offenders, half to be applied to the Hospital and half to the Informer. His Majesty orders, that upon Tuesday the 29th Instant, the Exchange at the Hôtel de Soissons shall be shut up, and shall always remain so; his Majesty forbids all Persons from assembling there for the future, or in any of the Places near it, or in any other Place or Street whatsoever, under Peril of being sent to Prison; as likewise all Persons other than the said Sixty Agents of Exchange, from keeping Offices for transacting any of the said kinds of Business under the Penalty of 3000 Livres forfeiture. His Majesty strictly commands the Lieutenant-General of the Police of the City of Paris to cause this present Arrêt to be duly executed, and to be read, published, and set up where there shall be Occasion. Done in the King's Council of State, his Majesty being present, held at Paris the 25th of October 1720, and Signed Phelypeaux.

Arrêt of the King's Council of State concerning the Actions of the India Company. October 24, 1720.

UPON what has been represented to the King in Council, that the Condition of these Persons who have remained Actionists in the India Company, contenting themselves with the Profits arising from the Stock, is so different from that of a great Number of Persons who have withdrawn from the said Company the greatest part of their Shares to send elsewhere the considerable Fortunes they have gained by converting their Stock into Bank Bills; that while the one sort of Persons have the Mortification to see the Price of Stock fall, much lower than it cost them, the others to the contrary, have arrived in a little time to an Opulency odious to the Publick, and prejudicial to the Welfare of the State; that the better to secure their Gains there are some who have sent immense Sums abroad, which they have caused to be placed in the publick Funde, or employed in purchasing of Diamonds and other Merchandize altogether as dear as superfluous; that others have made an ill use of their sudden Fortune in buying of Lands, or Houses, which they have raised to an excessive Price, or by laying up Stores of all sorts of Commodities on purpose to augment their Riches by a Monopoly punishable by Law; that, lastly, almost all Persons lock up the Gold and Silver which they do not lay out, in so much that all these Abuses have caused in a great Measure the dearness of Commodities, the discredit of Stock and of Bank Bills, the decay of Manufactures, and the Necessity to which considerable Numbers of the Inhabitants of the best Cities of the Kingdom are reduced. And although these Disorders, caused by Riches being so unequally distributed, might engage his Majesty to tax such who make so ill an use of them; he has thought proper, nevertheless, that to avoid alarming the well disposed Actionists who have not parted with their Stock, by the Precedent of a Tax, the Consequences whereof may seem hurtful to them, his Majesty chooses to remedy these Evils by a manner more mild and easy, by obliging the old Actionists, who have been the cause of them, to buy Stock proportionable to what they had at first, and by that means to replace in Trade at least some part of the Riches they have taken from it, to the end that their Fortunes becoming profitable both to the Kingdom and to themselves, may help to maintain an Establishment so advantageous to the State as is that of the India Company: In regard therefore to the same, his Majesty being in his Council, by Advice of the Duke of Orleans Regent, has ordered and does order,

I.

That such of the old Actionists of the India Company as shall find themselves distinguished in the Lists which shall be settled in Council for that purpose, shall be obliged in fifteen Days from the time of the Notification which shall be made to them of the said Lists, to bring to the said Company an Account of the Number of Actions they are to be charged with; which being performed, those Actions shall be subjected to all Intents and Purposes as the proper Treasure and Effects of the King.
(The rest shall be inserted in our next.)
